Miami 3D Slide Competition Rules and Information

Miami will be the 4th annual NSA Convention 3D Slide Competition of stereo images taken at the Convention by attendees. Photographers will either have the film developed and mount the images while at the convention or will format their digital images in the 2XGA resolution (double 1024x768= 2048x768 – see the Digital Theatre form for details). Up to four images from each person will be submitted to the competition to be judged. All images will then be presented in a final show on July 16, 2006 with awards being given for the top scoring images.

The convention will provide film developing at a reasonable rate. Attendees will be required to provide that fee when submitting their film. A pick up and drop off point will be setup at the convention facility. Twice a day, once in the morning and once in the afternoon, the film will be taken to the developer. At that time the film from the previous pick up will be returned. Attendees can pick up their film at that time. There will not be any limit to the amount of film submitted, unless imposed by the developing lab. Details will be available at the registration desk.

A room will be provided with equipment and supplies for slide mounting, donated by 3DConcepts. This room will also be staffed by volunteers to help with mounting. A schedule of open hours and staffing will be posted at the film drop-off table and at the room door. Digital photographers will be responsible for providing their own equipment.
